

Discovery Call Script (Instructor Role-Play Guide)

(Instructor plays Priya. Answer student questions using the details below; if a student asks something not covered, invent a reasonable, consistent answer.)

Opening line (say this to start)

"Hi, thanks for reaching out! I'm glad someone might be able to help — go ahead and ask me whatever you need to get started."

Answers to likely student questions

- What should the page include? "At minimum: what the club is, how to join, and upcoming events. A way for people to express interest would be great too — even just an email link."
- How often do events change? "Pretty often — every couple of weeks there's something new."
- Who updates it after you deliver it? "Probably me, but I'm not technical, so it needs to be simple — plain text edits, nothing complicated."
- What's the timeline? "I'd love something within two weeks if possible — nothing urgent breaking, just want to stop losing people to the group chat."
- Budget? "None, unfortunately — has to be free tools."
- Do you have a logo or colors already? "Not really — whatever looks clean and simple is fine."
- Any examples you like? "Just simple, one-page club sites — nothing fancy."

Wrap-up line (say this to end the call)

"This is really helpful, thank you! Let me know what you're thinking in terms of a plan and price."