

Worksheet: Path Completion & Reflection

Digital Independence Path — Final Worksheet (Course 18, Lesson 8)

Name: ____ Date: ____

There's no passing or failing score on this worksheet. Its only job is to tell you the truth about where you are, so your next 90 days are built on facts instead of guesses. Mark each item honestly.

Part 1: Full-Path Deliverables Checklist

For each item, mark Done, In Progress, or Not Started. Add a one-line note where useful (a link, a date, or what's missing).

Course 16 — Identity Foundations

Item	Status	Note
Strengths & values identified in writing	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started
Personal narrative / "about me" story drafted	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started

Course 17 — Services & Client Work

2–3 case studies written	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started
Professional bio written	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started
Service package description written	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started
Pricing worksheet completed	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started
At least one practice proposal written	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started

Course 18 — Presence & Opportunity Building

Item	Status	Note

5 content pieces published	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started
Presence extended to a second channel (portfolio + social/professional network, etc.)	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started
Networking plan created and started (outreach sent)	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started
90-day plan written with specific dated actions	☐ Done ☐ In Progress ☐ Not Started

Completion count: _ Done / _ In Progress / ____ Not Started (out of 15 items)

A "not started" item isn't a failure — it's the first thing that goes on your post-course action list. Be honest here; nobody benefits from an inflated checklist, especially not you.

Part 2: Reflection

What I'm most proud of (be specific — name the actual thing, not a general feeling):

What I'd improve, or do differently, if I started this path again:

What changed in how I see myself, from before Course 16 to right now:

Part 3: Commitment Statement

Complete this and read it out loud in class before you sign it.

I, _____, have completed the Digital Independence Path as of ____ (date). My checklist shows _____ of 15 deliverables fully done, and I know exactly what's left.

My 90-day plan does not end when this course ends. My very next action is:

It is due by: ____ (date)

I will keep myself accountable by telling: ____ (a specific person), and I will check my own progress against this plan again on: ____ (a specific future date, roughly 30 days out).

Signed: ____ Date: ____

Filled Example: Jordan R. (fictional)

Part 1: Checklist (Jordan's example)

Item	Status	Note
Strengths & values identified in writing	Done	Wrote it in Lesson 2 of Course 16, still feels accurate
Personal narrative drafted	Done	Used it in my bio and my proposal
Brand kit complete	Done	Blue/gray palette, simple logo made in Course 17
2–3 case studies written	Done	2 case studies — website redesign + small game project
Professional bio written	Done	80 words, used on portfolio and LinkedIn
Service package description	Done	"Beginner web development for small local businesses"
Pricing worksheet	Done	Set an hourly practice rate + a flat small-project rate
Practice proposal written	Done	Wrote one for the fictional client "Riverside Cafe"
Client simulation completed	Done	Finished all rounds, including the scope-change round
Profile/presence live	Done	Portfolio site + LinkedIn-style profile, both public
5 content pieces published	In Progress	Published 4 — one video is filmed but not edited yet
Presence on 2nd channel	Done	Portfolio site + a dev community profile
Networking plan started	Done	Sent 6 of 8 planned outreach messages
90-day plan written	Done	Written in Lesson 7, dated through week 13

Completion count: 13 Done / 1 In Progress / 0 Not Started (out of 14 shown; identity items above bring the full 15-item total to 14 Done / 1 In Progress)

Part 2: Reflection (Jordan's example)

Most proud of: "Finishing the client simulation, especially the round where the fake client suddenly wanted extra features. I didn't panic — I asked for a new deadline and explained why, instead of just agreeing to everything for free. That felt like something a real freelancer would do."

What I'd improve: "I'd start my content pieces earlier instead of stacking three of them in the last two weeks. The rushed ones are noticeably weaker than the first two I had more time on."

What changed: "Before Course 16 I thought 'professional' meant having a fancy resume. Now I think it means being able to explain clearly what you do, show real proof you've done it, and follow through when things get harder than planned. I didn't believe I could offer an actual service before this — now I have a whole package built, and I've practiced defending my own pricing to a difficult client."

Part 3: Commitment Statement (Jordan's example)

I, Jordan R., have completed the Digital Independence Path as of September 12. My checklist shows 13 of 14 deliverables fully done, and I know exactly what's left — editing and publishing my fifth content piece.

My 90-day plan does not end when this course ends. My very next action is: finish editing and publish content piece #5.

It is due by: September 19.

I will keep myself accountable by telling: my older brother, who already asked how the course went, and I will check my own progress against this plan again on: October 12.
